New tools and approaches for nanomaterial safety assessment

A joint conference
organized by

NANOSOLUTIONS, SUN, NanoMILE, GUIDEnano and eNanoMapper

About the Conference

Jointly organized by five major FP7 projects NANOSOLUTIONS, SUN, NanoMILE, GUIDEnano, and eNanoMapper, the conference aims at presenting the main results achieved in the course of the projects fostering a discussion about their impact in the nanosafety field and possibilities for future research programmes.

Keynote Speakers

NANOSOLUTIONS	Harri Alenius (University of Helsinki)
	Antonio Marcomini (Ca' Foscari University of Venice)
SUN	Wendel Wohlleben (BASF)
	Danail Hristozov (Ca' Foscari University of Venice)
NanoMILE	Eva Valsami-Jones (University of Birmingham)
GUIDEnano	Socorro Vázquez-Campos (LEITAT Technological Center)
	Barry Hardy (Douglas Connect GmbH)
eNanoMapper	Egon Willighagen (Maastricht University)
	Nina Jeliaskova (IDEAconsult Ltd.)
	Haralambos Sarimveis (The National Technical University of Athens)

Registration Fees

Early bird registration fee (before 28 November 2016)	185 €
Registration fee (before 16 January 2017)	210 €
Late registration fee (after 16 January 2018)	240 €

New tools and approaches for nanomaterial safety assessment

A joint conference
organized by

NANOSOLUTIONS, SUN, NanoMILE, GUIDEnano and eNanoMapper

Conference Topics

- Hazard assessment along the life cycle of nano-enabled products
- Exposure assessment along the life cycle of nano-enabled products
- Risk assessment & management
- Systems biology approaches in nanosafety
- Categorization & grouping of nanomaterials
- Nanosafety infrastructure
- Safe by design

Stakeholders Workshop

The conference will be wrapped up with a stakeholder workshop which will provide a platform for an open discussion with interested stakeholders that could ultimately guide the research needs that should be addressed in future projects.

Important Deadlines

- 15 July 2016 Call for abstracts opens
- 30 September 2016 Abstract submission deadline
- 15 October 2016 Notification of accepted abstracts
- 15 November 2016 Early bird registration deadline
- 16 January 2017 Regular registration deadline

On-site registration according to availability

Conference Venue & Accommodation
